and effort into bringing the musical plans to fruition, working on costumes and constructing the set.
The theater director advised those interested in attending the production to arrive at the theater between 6 and 6:30pm.
There are about 430 seats in the theater building, and no reservations are needed.
"We're hoping we can get people out here to see how good the kids are," Young said.
Students made a bet with David Young: if the theater is packed full of musical-attendees, Young will have to have his head shaved.
The students are hoping to win the bet.

ment, while franchise tax and advalorem tax are down.
"They're just starting to come in," Harris said.
The water and sewer budget could have issue with gas and oil and equipment repair.
Gas and oil is at 48.8 percent of its $7,500 total and an adjustment might be possible.
For equipment repair, currently at 38.5 percent of its $4,000 total, the city has done some significant equipment repair work already.
The I and S obligation item is at 81.5 percent of its $46,500 total, but Harris said "This has been paid up front".
New equipment is at 14.7 percent of its $13,000 total.
The water and sewer total is at 36.7 percent of its $341,400 total.
For revenues, water and sewer have both been up; they're at 37.4 percent of $192,000 and 35.1 percent of $102,000, respectively.
This leaves the revenue total at 34 percent.
Harris said, "This will probably not continue because we're getting into the season when we'll have rains."
After going over the budget, the council moved on to a trio of items for discussion and action.
The first was action on removing the $1 fire department fee on water bills.
Harris said, "Leagueville and others within the Emergency Services District voted to remove that dollar and we can do it at whatever date. It's not because we don't care about the fire department but because the ESD gives so much more."
Mayor Pro-tem Randal Clayton made the motion to approve the removal of the dollar from water bills, effective December 1, and Council Member Len Vest seconded.
Next was action on nominating a candidate for the Henderson County Appraisal District Board of Directors. This has already occurred, but the council voted to nominate Ronny Harris for the position. Council Member Doug Shaffer made the motion and Len Vest seconded.
Finally, the council approved the construction of a pair of storage buildings for extra equipment storage near the current storage building. Clayton and Vest made the motion and seconded, respectively.
There was an extra decision to be made before the meeting was out; the council decided to give city employees the day after Christmas and New Year's Day off in addition to the two holidays.
After this the meeting was adjourned.
